WHY is Multiply Cooking with Numbers an important course?

This course aims to build your confidence in maths using an informal and communicative approach. The course helps you build confidence in cooking with recipes by considering numbers such as shapes, portion sizes and measurements.

This unique course allows you to learn maths using baking/cooking in a fun and practical way.

WHAT are the course learning outcomes?

- To practice making meals using recipes
- To identify a range of shapes used in baking
- To learn how to calculate the correct fractions/portion sizes
- To apply metric measurements to everyday tasks in the kitchen

The course will provide learners with an opportunity to develop their skills in Maths for further education and qualifications.
